"We value, respect, and encourage our staff to invest as passionately into their own families as they do into the families we serve. Knowing that truly creating the changes we hope to accomplish in our community starts with ourselves and with one another."

FACILITY DESIGNS

"As a child-friendly business, we are more successful because our team works together to support each other both in and outside of the office. We understand what it is like to want to be successful business people - and more importantly, to be great parents."

— Suzanne Byrnes,
Owner

"A mother needs to spend time with her baby - especially during that first critical year. We encourage it and will continue to accommodate employees who need to put their family first, because when they focus on their family, they're more likely to come back to work ready to go!"

— Terance Frazier,
Owner

"I believe being a child-friendly business means creating an environment that goes above and beyond any minimum state and federal requirements. It is about creating a climate where our agency recognizes that employees are more dedicated to their organization when their family is valued."

— Wilma Tom Hashimoto,
Executive Director
